

On 13 September 2006 the ABC's 7.30 Report did a story on the Institute's work in developing a broad-spectrum vaccine targeting meningococcal disease. The story featured the Institute's Dr. Galina Kaseko speaking about meningococcal disease and the possibilities for its prevention. The transcript may be read here.