

SSRI's Administrative Support Team takes care of the day to day running of the Institute. The team's activities cover a diverse spectrum of responsibilities, some of which are: tactical decision making, fundraising, procurement, knowledge management, human resource management, public relations, compliance, safety, as well as routine office administration.

It is SSRI's philosophy to focus the larger bulk of our resources on our scientific research. As such, the Administrative Support Team can proudly claim to have a lean and efficient operation, supporting rather than detracting from our raison d'etre.
